MOLINARI REVIEW
MOLINARI REVIEW

The Molinari Review is a peer-reviewed, open-access, print-on-demand, interdisciplinary journal of libertarian research. We publish scholarship, sympathetic or critical, in and/or on the libertarian tradition, broadly understood as including classical liberalism, individualist anarchism, social anarchism, anarcho-capitalism, anarcho-communism, anarcho-syndicalism, anarcha-feminism, panarchism, voluntaryism, mutualism, agorism, distributism, bleeding-heart libertarianism, Austrianism, Georgism, public choice, and beyond — essentially, everything from Emma Goldman to Ayn Rand, C. L. R. James to F. A. Hayek, Alexis de Tocqueville to Michel Foucault. (We see exciting affiliations among these strands of the libertarian tradition; but you don’t have to agree with us about that to publish in our pages.)

Disciplines in which we seek to publish include philosophy, political science, economics, history, sociology, psychology, anthropology, theology, ecology, literature, and law. We aim to enhance the visibility of libertarian scholarship, to expand the boundaries of traditional libertarian discussion, and to provide a home for cutting-edge research in the theory and practice of human liberty.

INFORMATION FOR AUTHORS

Submissions should be sent by email to Roderick T. Long at iradical@praxeology.net as Word .doc or .docx files, prepared for blind review (i.e., all author information removed), and accompanied by an abstract of around 150 words as a guide for referees. Citation style is mainly up to the author, so long as it is clear, complete, and consistent. Submissions should not (ordinarily; inquire for exceptions) be previously published, nor should they be under consideration for publication elsewhere. Articles will ordinarily be published under the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 License. Authors will be asked to sign a publication agreement specifying these terms.
